Dear Customer,

In your most recent statement, you should have received a letter explaining our Secure Comfort Budget Program offered to our propane customers. While the letter correctly explained the program, it incorrectly stated that the price is $.99 per gallon. That was the price last year. In fact, we have not yet established a price for the next heating season. Our intention is to send another notification once we do have a price established.

Thank you for your business and we apologize for any confusion this may cause.
